

Once you know how much ADPIA does for your business, there's no comparison!

When it comes to business insurance, like Workers' Compensation, selecting the right agent can affect you in more ways than you may realize.

Experience and Stability

Is your current broker well-versed in the business insurance industry? Will they be there for your business in the long run?

With unique needs that will evolve over time, you should be confident that your insurance broker is experienced and stable.

Automatic Data Processing Insurance Agency, Inc. (ADPIA) is a national insurance agency with over 20 years' experience in connecting businesses like yours to the right insurance coverage. Our knowledge in the many products, regulations and trends in Property and Casualty insurance, allows us to understand what small to mid-sized companies need to protect their businesses and employees.

Options and Guidance

There are many Property and Casualty products for you to choose from and just as many insurance carriers but which one(s) will provide the right coverage for your business?

Without the right options and guidance you risk losing out on coverage that your business may need or choosing coverage that it doesn't.

With over 700 licensed insurance agents, ADPIA works closely with our network of insurance carriers to provide your business with a range of Property and Casualty options, including Workers' Compensation, Business Owner's Policy, and more. More importantly, we work closely with you to determine the right coverage that fits your business needs now and in the future.
